DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 9, 11-22 and 31-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Claims 9, 31 and 44 recite a publicly accessible website, but the specification and original claims, as understood by the examiner, do not disclose a publicly accessible website. In some embodiments, the website is specifically recited as accessible only by employees of a specific company, and in others it is silent as to whether the website is public. However, where the specification is silent as to the website's accessibility, it discusses access by employees only, not by the public in general.

It is noted that the absence of an art rejection should not be viewed as an indication of allowable subject matter, since applying art would required substantial speculation on the part of the examiner.

It is also noted that were it to be determined that the specification provides support for the newly amended claims, the newly amended claims would be withdrawn as all drawn due to a shift of invention as described below.

Newly amended claims 9, 11-22 and 31-48 are directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention previously claimed for the following reasons: Amendment B, submitted 9/22/2003, was drawn to a species of the invention wherein "the electronic information system enables only employees of the business to access the information and to order the at least one of the product and service" (cl. 1). However, the claims of amendment C are drawn to a different species in which the website and the information on the website is publicly accessible.

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claims 9, 11-22 and 31-48 are withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
